CITY RESIDENT MAKES POLAR HISTORY

Whitehorse resident Martyn Williams has become the first Canadian to reach both poles of the earth using only skis and a small dog team.

Williams, 44 and his three companions on the International north Pole Expedition were picked up Saturday after six grueling weeks of fighting severe temperatures, driving winds, and tough, unpredictable sea ice.

All four members of the group are South Pole veterans. Australian Mike McDowell 44, accompanied Williams to the South Pole in 1990. Norwegian brothers Sjur, 27, and Simen Modre, 29, traveled to the South Pole in 1991.

The group is now resting at the advance base on Ellesmere Island before they return tonight to Resolute Bay, N.W.T.

Tough terrain slowed progress for the first few weeks. However, the expedition traveled more than 25 kilometres a day in the last couple of weeks to make up for last time.

They had to reach the pole by May 12. After that date, warming temperatures cause fog and broken ice, which makes air pick-up impossible.

The trip has been much tougher than expected, Pangman said. Temperatures have averaged about -35° and driving winds have caused frostbite. A team of eight dogs has been more of a hindrance than a help. Pangman said.

City Man Dies In Cabin Fire

Olav Danielson, 61, died in a motel cabin fire some time yesterday. Apparently Mr. Danielson had been smoking in bed when he fell asleep. His bedding caught fire and he died from suffocation.

Little damage was done to the cabin apart from smoke stains as the limited amount of oxygen kept down the flames. It is thought the fire may have smouldered from midnight until morning. It was discovered by a Tourists' Services employee who spotted the brown, smoke covered window glass.

The fire department was summoned and the dead man was found inside.

Mr. Danielson was not employed at the time of his death. He had been working for Highway Maintenance Established at Destruction Bay.

Born April 21, 1901, he is believed to be survived by one sister, Mrs. Gurd Fotveit, of Setisdalen, Norway. Coroner Dr. W. R. Buchan indicated no inquest would be held.

YOUNGSTER FIVE DAYS IN BUSH

Five days lost in the bush last week didn't bother a resourceful 12 year-old Upper Liard youngster. Although he suffered frostbitten toes, he says, "I wasn't scared. I've been hunting since I was a little kid."

Young Andy Lutz is in whitehorse General Hospital receiving treatment for two frozen toes that are the only ill effects he suffered after spending five days lost in the bush near Upper Liard.

In freezing weather, without blankets or food and without a fire after the first day, Andy showed presence of mind rare even in adults. After making a bed of spruce boughs, he got his two dogs to sleep each side of him for warmth... he shot a squirrel and ate it raw.

Twelve year-old Andy said in hospital here, "Last Sunday I went hunting for rabbits and I thought I was coming back that afternoon. I went about five miles, saw a rabbit and chased it and then I didn't know which direction to go. I wasn't in that area before. It got dark and I didn't know what to do so I camped. I looked for my matches and I only had a couple in a box. I always have two boxes but couldn't find the other. I got a fire going and camped there the night."

"Next day I heard a truck going and tried to find the highway. I made a big circle and came right back where I was. The day after it was the same. I went the other way and came right back. Then I got smart with myself. Thursday I backtracked and that's when they found me. I had just got to a lake."

WITH MURDER IN HIS HEART

With Murder in his Heart Robert Whittier Blows Out His Own Brains After Attempting to Murder Ida Williams, Keeper of a House of Ill Repute, on the North End, With Whom He Was Infatuated.

An attempted murder followed by suicide occurred in the "North end" at about 12:45 a.m. Monday. The tragedy took place at the home of Ida Williams, keeper of a bagnio in that part of town. The would-be murderer and suicide was Robert Whittier, a carpenter about 28 or 30 years of age, a man who has been in this locality at irregular intervals for the past three or four years. As a result of the tragedy, Whittier lies in a suicides grave and Mrs. Williams is confined to her bed at her home with a portion of the skull of the back of her head shot away.

The story of the attempted murder and suicide as elicited at the coroner's inquest conducted by Inspector Demers,

R.N.W.M.P., with the following jury: J.P. Whitney, foreman, R. Unsworth, P.D. McMillan, Wm. Drury, Fred R. Alley and Arthur Thompson, was gleaned from Mrs. Williams and a man named Shooke, the only eye witnesses to the tragedy, although there was another man in the house at the time, was as follows:

Whittier, who first came to Whitehorse over three years ago, was much infatuated with Mrs. Williams and he, with another young man, was very attentive to her in the capacity of nurse at the time she sustained a broken leg about a year ago. In fact, he had practically made her house his home for a long time although he had a shack in the woods a few yards south of her house.

Sunday night he was at Mrs. Williams' house and, according to evidence, was offended at seeing the object of his affections attentive to other men with the result that, without any preliminaries, he attempted the woman's life and a second later took his own.

Whittier had his left arm around the woman's neck when she first discovered the revolver, a 38 caliber, owned by the woman, by the way, in his right hand. Seeing him leveling the weapon at her head she "ducked" forward and the bullet struck the back of her head, tearing away a small portion of the skull. A second later, and before Shooke could interfere, Whittier had turned the gun and had shot himself in the head, the bullet entering slightly back of the right temple and passing through the head, coming out near the left ear.

Whittier was never conscious after he shot himself but did not die until about 2:30 o'clock, or one hour and forty-five minutes afterward.

Drs. Cade and Pare, who were called in their professional capacity to examine the dying man and the wounded woman, were also witnesses before the coroner's jury. The jury brought in a verdict that the deceased came to his death by his own hand. There was no evidence to show that Mrs.

Williams had ever encouraged Whittier's attentions any more than those of other men.

For the past several years Whittier has been employed by Eli Hume, Archie Gould and other contractors and is said to have been a good workman and a quiet, steady young fellow. He was a native of eastern Canada and Mrs. Williams testified that he had frequently told her how he was a nephew of Sir Charles Tupper.

Up to yesterday evening no arrangements had been made regarding the burial of Whittier. If no word is received by noon today the police will take charge of the body and bury it this afternoon.

BOBBY KENNEDY CLIMBS MT. KENNEDY

Mountain and mountain climbing stories in The STAR have always received prominent coverage. One of the interesting climbs was made by the late U.S. Senator Robert Kennedy in March 1965 when he climbed the Canadian mountain named for his brother President John F. Kennedy.

The mountain, 145 miles north-west of Whitehorse, forms a triangle with Mount Alverstone and Mount Hubbard and until that time was the highest (13,905 ft.) unclimbed peak in the St. Elias mountains.

When the mountain was named for the late President, the National Geographic Society and the Boston Museum of Science decided to conduct a joint survey which would result in a completely detailed map. Bobby Kennedy, though he had never climbed before, joined the party at the last minute and thus the world press became very interested. Newsmen descended on the Yukon in droves but the Whitehorse Star had the first published pictures of the event.

Veteran Everest climber Jim Whitaker of Seattle led the three man party of Kennedy and Barry Prather up the last ridge where they unroped and let the Senator ascend the last 50 yards alone to be the first man on top. It was not a particularly tough climb, as climbs go, but it was a personal pilgrimage for Kennedy, who planted the Kennedy family crest, Canadian flags and National Geographic emblem on the top.

Kennedy Mountain, at the lower camps, was crawling with other members of the climb, military men and helicopters, private planes rented by the media, the ice field research people and anyone else who could scrounge a ride.

A National Film Board crew guided by Whitehorse mountaineer Monty Alford, recorded the climb and Yukoners Bob Erlam, Alex Van Bibber and Wayne MacDonald took pictures which appeared in Life, Time and The Whitehorse Star. The latter three, incidentally, were also present when Kennedy came down that night from the ascent. They fed him steak, instant mashed potatoes, ice cream and the heel of a bottle of Madeira wine which someone (probably Bob) had stashed in a pack sack.

Back in Whitehorse, Kennedy dropped in to the Capital Hotel to get cleaned up and have a drink with the locals. He bought a round and paid for it with a cheque which owner Cal Miller kept and had framed. Said Cal, "I told him I wanted to keep it as a souvenir of the next President of the United States."

A GANG OF TOUGHS

From present appearances White Horse is a haven of refuge for as tough a set of individuals as ever congregated in a town of this size. Toughs from Dawson, who have been served with "blue papers" by the N.W.M.P.; toughs who have made their presence so obnoxious that even Skagway, which is not famed for its morality, has seen fit to issue orders for their removal; toughs of all descriptions and varieties, from the macquereaux, who live on the earnings of fallen women, to the "macer" and bullying prize fighter, whose highest ambition is to get in some public place and pose before the audience as exponents of the manly art of self defense—these are among the evils which have recently invaded our hitherto peaceful community, like a swarm of locusts on a Kansas farm.

In early days in the northern country it was almost impossible to rid the country of this undesirable element, but things now wear an altogether different aspect. The towns of Yukon territory are being settled up by respectable and law abiding citizens and their families, and the courtesan and her "lover" are no longer looked upon with the same degree of leniency that they were when the population was composed almost entirely of men without family ties or other influences to regulate their daily lives.

In Dawson the moral wave has assumed such proportions that members of the demi-mode have been driven from their accustomed haunts and forced to seek refuge on the opposite side of the river from town. Even here in White Horse the police have issued an edict against women frequenting or patronizing saloons and it is now the duty of those in authority to continue the good work they have begun and free us from the greater evil of the "toughs."
